—All times are EASTERN—

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS: Generic

- 1) Given the breakout room topic, how has your state addressed (or begun to address the topic) as it relates to COVID-19?
- 2) What are 2 or 3 lessons learned from how your state has responded?
 - a. What would you do differently?
 - b. What would you do the same?
- 3) Looking to the future, what are 2 or 3 actions that your respective AASHTO committee could do to assist and support your state?
- 4) What are 2 or 3 actions AASHTO as an organization could do to support the State DOTs?
- 5) The Committee on Transportation System Security and Resilience (TSSR) has a focus on supporting state DOTs with respect to improving the resilience of the transportation system. How can TSSR and your respective committee coordinate/work together in this area?

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS: Planning for a New Normal

- 1) With the recent pandemic and the potential for a new “normal” How are you changing your planning practices or how to you see them changing in the future?
- 2) Have you seen a change in mode choice, especially in the area of active transportation and perhaps more specifically transit? What have you done or see your agency doing in the future to address this change?
- 3) Are Equity Concerns being factored into these discussions? How has that changed the discussion?
- 4) Given these changes, are you monitoring things differently? Do you see any of your metrics changing?
- 5) How are you factoring in some of these changes into your resilience planning?

Mobility Analytics in the COVID Era: Prospects and Challenges with New Forms of Data and Artificial Intelligence

LOGISTICS

Date: Wednesday, September 30, 2020

Time: 1:00pm-2:00pm EASTERN

Link: <https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/9064546891605863179>

Description: COVID-19 presents unprecedented challenges to transportation planning and operations. By at least one estimate, at the height of the coronavirus shutdown in the spring, travel to more than 150,000 Points of Interest throughout New Jersey, including to retail, health care, food stores and other essential and non-essential establishments decreased up to 80 percent compared to the first week of March when the state was still open. However, the economic crisis associated with the public health crisis, is likely to have long-term – and geographically and economically disparate effects – as was the case with the Great Recession. This talk will consider a range of operational as well as strategic, long-term effects related to wider social and economic context of the current pandemic and its potential consequences for transportation demand. The talk will utilize new forms of structured and unstructured (text, image, social media) data, and machine learning and Artificial Intelligence approaches as an approach to synthesize what could become a dynamic, uncertain and rapidly evolving post-pandemic landscape. The speaker will discuss some of the key benefits and unintended consequences – as well as governance issues – yet, the necessity, associated with such a data-driven approach.

AGENDA

1:00pm

- 1:00pm-1:15pm: Transition Period from Plenary #2 to Lunch Speaker
- 1:15pm-1:45pm: Mobility Analytics in the COVID Era:
